About the Dublin Gulch Project
Victoria Gold’s 100%-owned Dublin Gulch gold property is situated in the central Yukon Territory, Canada, approximately 375 kilometers north of the capital city of Whitehorse, and approximately 40 kilometers from the town of Mayo. The property is accessible by road year-round, and is located within Yukon Energy’s electrical grid. The Company has constructed a 100 person all-season camp at the project site.

The property covers an area in excess of 400 square kilometers, and is the site of the Company’s Eagle Gold Deposit, which has been estimated to host a NI 43-101 Compliant Mineral Resource of 222 million tonnes averaging 0.68 grams of gold per tonne, containing 4.86 million ounces of gold in the “Indicated” category and a further 78 million tonnes averaging 0.60 grams of gold per tonne, containing 1.49 million ounces of gold in the “Inferred” category.

Gold, silver and base metal mineralization are present at numerous localities within the Dublin Gulch property, in addition to the Eagle Gold Deposit. Reconnaissance-scale exploration programs are underway throughout the property area. Recently core drilling was conducted in the vicinity at the Olive, Shamrock, and Popeye prospects, which are situated within the prospective Potato Hills Mineral Trend that was discovered by Victoria during the 2010 exploration season. Additionally, early in September Victoria Gold will commence with a first-pass core drilling program at the newly reported Rex-Peso exploration target, which is situated along the western projection of the Potato Hills Mineral Trend.
